

“If you don’t know what
port you are
sailing to, no
wind is favourable.”

(Seneca ‘The Younger’, 4BC-AD65, Roman philosopher and poet, translated loosely from the original Latin: ‘Ignoranti, quem portum petat, nullus suus ventus est’, from Epistulae Morales 73:iii.)